Steaming to Stop Snoring

Nasal congestion is one of the main reasons behind snoring. One of the best solutions for reducing congestion is to inhale steam.

- Add three or four drops of eucalyptus essential oil or tea tree essential oil.
- Hold a towel over your head and inhale the steam deeply.
- Follow this remedy daily before going to bed until your congestion clears.

Svengoolie

Pardon me if I stop to catch my breath (what do you use for bait to catch a breath? Do you wait with baited – or bated- breath?) – our whirlwind Halloween season has just ended! It's always a lot of fun, and we get to meet so many terrific fans- but, at times, it is like being on a treadmill turned up to eleven! Regardless, the Svengoolie "phenomenon" (like the man in the "Godzilla" flicks we showed attempted to say) continues to roll- as we fall deeper into the fall, with more fun on the way! Let us begin with what you'll be seeing on our show in a memorable November!

Do you want to try your hand at extracting Banana DNA and looking at it under a microscope, or would you rather watch the Moxie Anne Magnus Variety hour? Would you rather listen to an actual rocket scientist talk about Engineering Soft SciFi Spaceships, or watch the Costume Contest show? Would you rather listen to the Klingon Pop Warrior or a NASA Ambassador talking about Cassini and Saturn? These are all choices you'll have to make at this year's Starbase Indy.
